Dovenal and Courter, WOLF AGAINST DR. LEE

TESTIFIED FOR THE STATE IN THE

Medical Examiner White and Dr. Wheeler the Other Witnesses of the Day-Both Testified as to Making the Post Mortem Examination-Trial Will be Resumed This Morning.

When the trial of Dr. J. Edward Lee, charged with murder in the second degree, was adjourned for the day yesterday afternoon, Nathan Wolf, the young man who was Cash's friend in the case, was on the witness stand in the interest of the state. His testimony was substantially as had been given by him at the previous trial of Drs. Lee and Whitten in the city court before Judge Callahan and little or no new evidence was adduced.

Earlier in the day Medical Examiner White testified and was subjected to a rigid cross examination by Attorneys Chase and Martin, representing the accused. Dr. White testified that after the autopsy on August 21, 1893, he re moved certain organs from the body and placed them in a glass jar, which he locked up in his private desk in the laboratory of the Yale Medical school. About the middle of September he pu some alcohol in the jar, having neglected doing it before that time. Subsequently he made an examination of the organs and discovered certain formations and a wound about three-eighths of an inch in diameter. This wound was near a spot he had discovered at the post mortem examination and might have been made by a assured of having them returned to you certain kind of instrument. Here the as clean as new carpets. api5 tf medical examiner produced the jars, took out the organs in question placed them on a tea plate and the plate was passed around among the jurors, de-spite serious objection from the attorneys for the defense.

Resuming Medical Examiner White stated that before making this subsequent examination he was unable to state whether the girl's death had been caused by mechanical or medical means, but since that time he was satisfied that instruments had been used and added that the condition of the stomach indicated that drugs had also een used. On cross examination Dr White admitted that the organs had been in a case in the medical school in which there were other similar or-gans, some of which were labelled and

Dr. Frank H. Wheeler was next called and testified to having assisted Medical Examiner White at the post mor-tem examination. He also swore positively that one of the organs were cut open and examined. The organ was then shown to him and asked why it was that the cuts he had described did not show. He said that no cuts showed in the organ he was examining, which it was claimed by the state was the organ taken from Maggie Schloss. After this admission Attorne; Thase moved that all the evidence given by Dr. White in reference to the yound be stricken out, but the motion

OLD HAUNTED ROUSE.

Searching Yesterday for Captain Kidd's Treasure,

Torrington, April 17 .- The ruins of the Old Haunted House," which stood on the old Litchfield turnpike, are the scene to-day of a search for buried treasure, supposed to have been deposited there by a gang of pirates and robbers, who made the place their headquarters in the eighteenth century. Around the big, old fashioned chimney, which is all of the historic landmark remaining, the ground has been dug up in the search but as far as can be learned no chests gold have been found. The search will have to be abandoned soon, as there is no place not already carefully examned by the treasure hunters.

Late in the eighteenth and early in he nineteenth centuries the place was famous because of the gang of outthat among that gang were members of Captain Kidd's famous crew. A murder is alleged to have been committed here, a young and beautiful girl cap-tured and carried off by the robbers and n urdered because her frien is would not ransom her. Her spirit has haunted the house, it is claimed, ever since, whence it took its name, the "Old Haunted House," The building was destroyed by fire Saturday night, together with its barn.
